

Shop Local This Holiday Season: Constant Contact Announces Unique Markets U.S. Holiday Tour

Tour builds on the decade-long momentum of putting $25 million back into local economies through supporting small business

WALTHAM, Mass., Nov. 19, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Constant Contact, an Endurance International Group (NASDAQ: EIGI) company and leader in small business marketing solutions, today announced the Unique Markets Holiday Tour, sponsored by Constant Contact. The Unique Markets Holiday Tour is changing the holiday shopping game by bringing together a curated selection of local designers, artists, and emerging brands for their one-day pop-up marketplaces in seven top U.S. cities.

The tour will help small businesses earn their share of a predicted $1.1 trillion in 2018 holiday retail sales* while simultaneously injecting the economy with monies spent on locally-made goods. Each market will feature high-quality, well-designed products in a range of categories including jewelry, clothing, home goods, art, apothecary, stationery, kids items, ceramics, and more. All brands and products will be represented by the actual business owner/designer/maker, a hallmark of all Unique Markets events.

"Our partnership with Unique Markets directly aligns with Constant Contact's goal of supporting and celebrating the diverse entrepreneurial spirit showcased in these pop-ups," said Jonathan Kateman, general manager of Constant Contact. "These markets strike a chord with consumers who believe, as we do, that America's small businesses provide the highest quality goods and services and are the lifeblood of our economy and local communities."

Aside from the fresh, modern goods available for purchase, attendees can also enjoy DIY projects, interactive photo experiences, and free drinks & snacks.

Now in its tenth year, Unique Markets has helped more than 10,000 entrepreneurs across the country reach new audiences and increase sales while supporting communities and putting more than $25 million back into local economies.

As presenting sponsor and committed supporter of small businesses, Constant Contact is providing a 50 percent discount on vendor fees, helping to limit costs for participating small businesses. Constant Contact is also reducing the event ticket price to $5 for attendees of the Unique Markets Holiday Tour pop-up marketplaces, which will make stops in the following cities this holiday season:

- Denver (Nov. 25)
- Seattle (Nov. 25)
- Phoenix (Dec. 2)
- Minneapolis (Dec. 2)
- Boston (Dec. 9)
- Washington, D.C. (Dec. 9)
- Austin (Dec. 16)

"Unique Markets helps me and other small business owners to get out of the workshop, and out from behind the computer screen, to connect with our community," said Laura Cornman, owner of Settlewell. "It helps me reach customers outside my own circle of influence in an artfully-curated, face-to-face shopping experience. It's been hugely beneficial to growing my business!"

Each city on the national tour will feature more than 40 vendors that represent a mix of brick and mortar and online businesses.

"As a loyal Constant Contact customer, email marketing has been pivotal in helping me grow my business and this partnership is really a match made in marketing heaven," said Sonja Rasula, founder of Unique Markets. "Not only is Constant Contact in alignment with our mission, the team is also providing education and tips for effective marketing to participants in each city to help them take advantage of the surge in consumer shopping during the holiday season and beyond to grow their businesses."
